STUDIO 1 SEDBURY STABLES

Gilling West, Richmond, DL10 5LQ

The Grade II-listed Sedbury Stables, ideally located less than a mile from Scotch Corner, were originally designed by Georgian architect John Carr in 1771 to house King Charles II's racehorses. This charming two-storey complex was carefully restored in 1999 and retains much of its original character, now offering versatile space situated in a beautiful woodland and parkland setting within this stunning rural estate.

The studios extend to approximately 120 sq.m. (1,292 sq.ft.) and 56 sq.m. (603 sq.ft.) respectively. They are arranged over a single storey, accessed via a central communal hallway, and benefit from ample parking. The space has previously been artist studios but may lend itself to another use.

The property also benefits from access to a shared WC, a sustainable biomass heating system, and high-speed broadband connectivity.
