Description

Castle Gate Farm is a desirable livestock unit comprising a characterful cottage, an extensive range of traditional stone-built buildings and modern livestock housing with productive meadowland, permanent pasture and amenity woodland, extending in total to about 218.76 acres (88.53 ha).

Cottage

A charming three bedroom cottage built of dressed stone beneath a pitched slate roof that has been converted from a traditional barn. The accommodation is laid out over two floors, extending to approximately 1,163 sq. ft. and comprising:

Ground Floor: Entrance hall, kitchen dining room, sitting room and a boot room.

First Floor: Landing area, two double bedrooms, a single bedroom and a bathroom.

The cottage has a superb south facing aspect with attractive views overlooking the River Ure and rolling open countryside. It would benefit from a schedule of modernisation throughout.

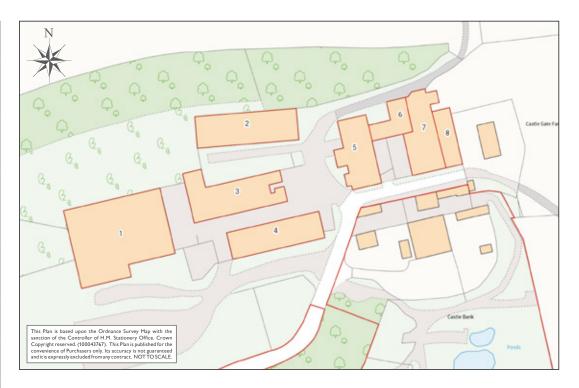

Farm Buildings

The farm buildings are centred around a partially concreted yard and principally comprise a range of modern steel portal frame buildings, including cubicle housing for 100 head of cattle, loose livestock housing (converted from a former dairy), additional heifer cubicle housing and machinery / general purpose storage facilities. These buildings are in useable condition for basic agricultural purposes, although require significant improvements.

There is also an extensive range of traditional stone buildings located on the northeast corner of the yard, adjacent to the cottage. These stone-built buildings are in relatively poor condition and have limited agricultural use, although offer scope for alternate use, subject to obtaining the necessary consents.
